3Si Security Systems Welcomes Industry Leader Peter Giacalone as a Board Advisor

Malvern, PA – September 29, 2025 – 3Si Security Systems, a leader in security technologies that deliver verified felony-level crime alerts and intelligence to law enforcement and help organizations protect their assets and people, is proud to announce that Peter Giacalone has joined the company as a Board Advisor.

At 3Si, we have earned the trust of more than 10,300 law enforcement agencies nationwide by providing proven technology for safe and effective crime response. Over the past two decades, this commitment has contributed to the arrests of more than 21,000 violent criminals. Now, through our DirectToDispatch™ (DTD) solution, we have integrated advanced technologies, such as video and audio, with our proven GPS platform, to enhance the critical situational awareness we deliver, helping first responders protect their communities and remain safe in the field. DTD is the industry's first platform to provide real-time media intelligence directly to police dispatchers and first responders when it matters most.

Peter Giacalone has over four decades of leadership experience in electronic security monitoring and public safety innovation. In his advisory role, he will help guide our continued growth and advance the innovations law enforcement and the security industry rely on to stop crime. His expertise will be invaluable as we strengthen partnerships and expand capabilities that deliver tangible results for our partners.

"3Si has always stood apart in its ability to deliver trusted, real-time data to the people who need it most: law enforcement," said Matt Kushner, CEO of 3Si. "Peter's history of innovation and strategic leadership in security monitoring will help us strengthen and expand DirectToDispatch™, ensuring we continue to set the standard for supporting law enforcement and the industry with innovation that contributes to a safer world."

"I am proud to bring my experience to 3Si," said Peter Giacalone. "Law enforcement is inundated daily with hundreds of thousands of calls, many of which are false. By delivering verified crime data directly to dispatch, 3Si helps reduce noise, improve response times, and, most importantly, strengthen officer and public safety. Their innovation is making a real difference in protecting people and communities."

3Si is pleased to have Peter join our Advisory Board, which also includes:

- Mike Lamb, a veteran in retail loss prevention with more than 40 years of experience advancing asset protection and safety practices.
- Bill Bozeman, a recognized leader in electronic security with decades of expertise guiding strategy and innovation across the industry.
- Richard Long, a retired law enforcement executive, FBINAA graduate, and Certified Protection Professional (CPP) with deep experience in public safety and global security leadership.
