End of Life Reasons

As 3SI is committed to ensuring the safe transport of our devices, we regularly review shipping regulations to confirm our products are compliant. New information obtained during a regular compliance and regulatory review indicates that the NextGen3 SNT Tracker External Battery is no longer compliant with 2017 ground, rail and air shipping regulations for products containing Lithium Ion batteries whose purpose is to power another device.

Based on this new information and our commitment to safety compliance, we cannot ensure safe transport of this device and will discontinue the sale, manufacture, improvement, repair, maintenance, and support of the NextGen3 SNT Tracker External Battery.

The NextGen3 SNT Tracker External Battery is the only product affected in 3SI's NextGen3 SNT Tracker suite of products because only it fits within the range of product designed to power another device. 3SI's NextGen3 SNT Trackers (Standard and Slim) will remain available, are completely safe for use, and are compliant with current shipping regulations.
