Protecting Cash Handling Machines with Ink Staining

Cash stored in cash handling machines like ATMs continues to be a target for criminals globally. Drilling machines, fork lifts, and grinding discs are just a few of the methods used to attack these machines and steal the cash. Banks, ATM owners and manufacturers struggle with how to protect cash against physical ATM attacks in a secure yet economical manner.

When an Attack Occurs... SecuriDab LT will automatically detect the violent attack and indelibly stain the cash in the cassette rendering it worthless to the criminal.

Safety Advantages

- Automatically stains the cash when the machine is attacked
- Provides protection against ram raids and grinding attacks
- Technology is integrated into the lid or body of the cassette and is invisible to both customers and criminals
- System can be linked to an existing alarm, the cash dispenser, and the safe's electronic lock to provide a multi-layered security solution
- Cassettes are easily identified by industry acknowledged labeling
- State-of-the-art inks with markers guarantee optimal staining performance and traceability

Customer Advantages

- Compatible with popular electronic locks and automatically arms and disarms the cash cassettes, removing the need to manage physical keys or remote controls
- Clear visual and audible signals are easy for staff to operate during normal daily use
- Simple integration by customers either as a preassembled solution or as an easy-to-configure kit of parts
- Cassettes are configured to allow extensive connectivity with the machine and external alarm systems. Flexible architecture provides for future proof add-ons of emerging anti-fraud sensing technology
